Birks, who was working in the driveway at his home, 5201 Maryville road, was knocked about 30 feet over a motorcycle and landed under the workbench in the garage.

He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he is being treated for first and second degree burns to his face, both hands, both legs and the possible leg fracture.

Birks, a machine shop worker at Granite City Steel Co., was cutting the barrel with a torch to make a watering trough for his chickens. He had just lighted the torch when the explosion occurred. He did not know what kind of fuel had been in the barrel.

Witnesses testifying at the Friday afternoon hearing leaned heavily in favor of retention of "home rule" for local governing bodies, with self-determining powers to change existing forms and structure of local governments; retention of taxes; prohibition of use of public funds to aid non-public schools; abatement of personal property taxes; and rescinding of certain ordinances.

Venice Boy, 2, Undergoing Treatment for Meningitis

A second reported case of meningitis in the Quad-Cities was noted Friday when 2-year-old Ronald Ray Sherry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sherry, 118 Abbott street, Venice, entered Children's Hospital, St. Louis.

The boy, while in serious condition, is reported to be improving. It was learned from his grandmother, Mrs. J. M. M. Sherry of Venice, that the boy was born at 522 Third street, said her son, Kenneth, who lives at the Third street address, was visited on Feb. 15 by a friend stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., and they had gone over to the Robert Sherry home for a visit.

"We don't know if there is any possible connection," the grandmother said. The soldier has been transferred to another base, she added.

The sick child's father is an unemployed taxicab driver. He and his wife are spending as much time as possible at Child's Hospital.

The area's first meningitis case was reported early last week. The victim, Kay Herman, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Herman, Rural Route Two, and a first grader at Mitchell school, is showing improvement and is no longer on the critical list. She also was taken to St. Louis Children's Hospital for treatment.

The Herman family had gone to St. Louis Saturday night and returned February to visit a relative stationed there.

Voter Registration Here Up Slightly

A total of 126,695 persons will be registered for the March 19 primary elections, but the number is only a slight increase over the 126,446 voters registered for the 1968 primary, according to new registration figures released by County Clerk F. A. Hutz.

The 250 increase in the number of registrations was recorded throughout the county by a recent registration program in which special registration centers were conducted throughout the county by the clerk's office to encourage registration of newly qualified voters.

Though the increase in voter registrations for the county as a whole amounted to only 250, new registration figures for the four townships of the Quad-City area show a rise of 466 voters in that area during the two-year period.

The new total registration of Granite City, Venice, Nameoki and Chouteau townships is 35,474, records at the clerk's office show. The total registration for the 1968 primary election was 35,068.

Con Con Delegates Hear Public Demands

30 Witnesses Speak During Friday Hearing Conducted at Alton

Witnesses and spectators crowded a station hall at Alton Friday afternoon, where the first of two public hearings was conducted by ten delegates to the Constitutional Convention.

A three-hour evening session followed the lengthy afternoon hearing. The 20 delegates made a variety of presentations in support or opposition to Constitutional propositions.

John Alexander of Virgil, Con Con vice-president, and Ray Johnson, a Troy accountant, co-chaired the afternoon hearing, with Wendell Durr, an Edwardsville lawyer, and Stanley L. Klus, a former teacher from Carlinville, directing the latter session.

Expressing gratification that "so many people have taken the time to express their thoughts to the Con Con delegates," Johnson stated that remarks would be limited to six minutes for each witness. In stead of the announced ten minutes, due to the number of persons wishing to testify.

Other members of the delegates' panel were two state representatives, Paul F. Elward, floor leader for Chicago legislation in the Illinois House, and Victor Arrigo of Chicago, and Frank D. Stember, a Chicago police officer. Mrs. Mary Lee Leahy, and Malcolm K. Amin, both Chicago attorneys; and Joseph Rachunas, a Chicago real-estate lawyer, also testified.

The delegates represented all nine of the major committees of the convention. Johnson noted he also pointed out that Illinois is the only state in which the Constitutional Convention has ever left the seat of the convention to be in a testimony.

Witnesses testifying at the Friday afternoon hearing leaned heavily in favor of retention of "home rule" for local governing bodies, with self-determining powers to change existing forms and structure of local governments; retention of taxes; prohibition of use of public funds to aid non-public schools; abatement of personal property taxes; and rescinding of certain ordinances.

Mayor Seeks Top Help To Keep Army Depot Open

Mayor Partney said Saturday he was endeavoring "in every possible way to keep the Army Depot in operation here" despite the orders issued Wednesday for the installation to close down by July 1971.

"I'm enlisting the help of Com. Price and Senators Smith and Percy and have written letters to them asking their aid. If that doesn't work, and the Army closes its depot here, I'm hopeful a not other government agency will move in."

"I've heard the Mart building in St. Louis has been sold to a private concern," the mayor said. "Those large warehouses are dehumidified and would be ideal for an electronics industry. The Tri-City Port District also could enter the picture."

He said that should those efforts fail, he was for industrial use of most of the 977-acre tract. "Those large warehouses are dehumidified and would be ideal for an electronics industry. The Tri-City Port District also could enter the picture."

"Of course I liked what Sen. Ralph Smith had to say Friday, that the military would go to the city. If the property is made available to the city, it could be developed with an industrial park, the three-story barracks could be converted for offices."

There could be a municipal golf course, as well as utilization of other buildings for a larger city hall and other municipal facilities.

City Needs Bargain Price "As far as the purchase price by the federal government to the City, Granite City could pay about 30 cents, if the government promised 40-cent refund. You know the city is broke from the sewer breaks, but I feel certain an arrangement could be made," the mayor stated.

Musing over other possibilities, he said there are numerous shops at the depot which could be converted for use by smaller businesses and industries, and the Great River road leads right to the depot gate—that's another asset."

The city already has an interest in the depot, Partney pointed out. "Our sewage treatment plant is on depot grounds and so is the city pump station, which the depot has utilized and shared in the operating costs."

He said the city will miss the depot, "if it is closed." He pointed to the mutual aid agreement between the city and depot fire departments and the cooperation of depot security and the city.

Depot Layouts Set for 1971; 581 to Transfer

More than one-third, or 581, of the 1430 civilian employees at the Granite City Army Depot will be able to transfer to bases in Colorado, Pennsylvania and Missouri when their work ends here due to the closing of the Depot.

An announcement late Friday by Col. Ned R. Dickson, commanding officer, said transfer notices and reduction-in-force notices will be issued to civilian personnel beginning in August, effective in December 1970, through June 1971. The notifications give 60-day notice of termination or transfer.

Inactivation of the 977-acre Army base on the western fringe of the Quad-Cities will take place by July 1971, the U.S. Department of Defense informed Congressman Melvin Price March 4.

Col. Dickson formally announced the inactivation plans after the information was made public Friday afternoon in Washington.

338 to Pueblo, Colo. A total of 338 will be transferred to the Army Depot at Pueblo, Colo.; 117 will go to the Army Depot at Topeka, Kan.; 41 will be transferred to the Army Aviation Systems Command in St. Louis; and 85

Lee Urges Joint City Use Of Depot

Venice Mayor Opposes Control by One City, Suggests Area Merger

A joint program by Granite City, Venice and Madison to acquire the Granite City Army Depot for development as an industrial park and public municipal facilities was proposed Friday night by Mayor John E. Lee of Venice as a move "that would benefit the entire Quad-City area."

Noting that the government announcement of plans to phase out operations at the Depot came as "distressing news," Mayor Lee said that "now it has happened and we must move quickly to make up for the economic blow to the area."

He pointed out to Venice city council members during the regular meeting session that the Depot operation, and "all the regular are so sensitive they would provide an ample basis for development of industries and business that would replace employment and economic losses suffered from elimination of the Depot operation, and "all leave buildings, offices, recreational facilities and land for a municipal administration complex."

Suggests Cities Merge Mayor Lee cited the potential area-wide benefits from such a project as "pointing out the fact that the entire area should be one community because what affects one part of the area, affects all of it."

Lee in recent statements has gone on record favoring merger of the three cities into a single community as a means of coordinating government administration.

The Venice mayor referred to earlier statements by Mayor Donald Partney of Granite City concerning plans for acquiring the Depot facilities after the depot is closed down in July 1971.

What Mayor Partney has said about potential use of the depot area is very true," Mayor Lee told the council. "For it could be used in many ways—for housing of the elderly, recreational use, industrial park facilities, school facilities for the handicapped, a technical school and shopping center, and so on."

But, the mayor emphasized, "it never should be used or owned or controlled by any one city. It should be used for ing statutes requiring registration of gun owners.

Other issues brought before the Con Con delegates, included recommendations on environmental pollution control; changes in the judicial process; and combining the office of governor and lieutenant governor as a team to avoid electing two office holders from different political parties.

Among those testifying in opposition to any form of government aid through use of tax funds to non-public schools were a Lutheran minister, a Roman Catholic priest, a representative of the state Baptist association and the president of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Mrs. Uta Brazier of East Alton, president of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, who assisted in organizing and re-activating several PTA groups in the Quad-City area, told the panel "The Illinois PTA is definitely concerned that there be no change in the Constitution which would permit allocation of public funds to non-public schools."

"There is a practical reason for our position," she said. "First, money, but the more important reason is a philosophical one." Mrs. Brazier said. "It is our belief that if such aid were forthcoming we would see a proliferation of private schools and an increased enrollment in those schools by those parents who wish for any reason to remove their children from the requirements of public schools."

Separation of Children

The state PTA president continued. "This would result in two undesirable things: separation of children into groups based on religion, race, economic ability or selfish interest; and a weakening of the public school system, perhaps even to the point where those schools would have only those children who are acceptable for whatever reason to non-public schools."

"The Illinois PTA also is in favor of constitutional provision for a state board of education, representing the common schools in Illinois... with power to appoint the chief state school officer," Mrs. Brazier stated.

Among others stating opposition to aid to any institutions controlled by any church or sectarian denomination, were H. W. Stanford of Beloit, speaking in behalf of the Illinois Baptist State Association which represents 900 Southern Baptist churches in Illinois; Rev. Otto Horstman, pastor of Prairie View Lutheran Church, and Rev. Fr. Casimir Gierul of Bunker Hill.

State Rep. Edward stated that many private schools in churches are expected to close within the next two years unless funds are received, forcing public schools into double shift operations. Rev. Horstman commented, "No issue would polarize the people of our state than if public tax money is granted for this purpose."

Union's Views

Representing the United Steelworkers of America and specifically more than 13,000 members in downstate Illinois, Buddy W. Davis, Steelworkers' official, commended the delegates for setting evening hours to permit workers to testify or attend the hearings.

Noting the Steelworkers Union opposed the calling of the Constitutional Convention, Davis said that since voters approved the action the union members are keenly interested in the issues.

MORE ABOUT Gasoline in River; Water Co. Alerted

Increased use of counter-acting chemicals in filters prevented problems Friday at the water plant here of East St. Louis & Interurban Water Co. after nearly 150,000 gallons of gasoline were spilled in the Mississippi River at Alton where a concrete wall at the Alton locks.

There was no fire.

A spokesman for the water company said the gasoline had bypassed the intake station at Chouteau Island. "The gasoline appeared to have evaporated quickly and caused no problem, but we did take ahead precautions and kept careful watch at the treatment plant," the water company spokesman said.

The barge was one of four being locked through at Alton about 11:15 p.m. Thursday. The barge was beached at Alton slough and the remaining gasoline pumped out before the barge was taken to National Marine Service in Hartford for repairs.

As a precaution, the Coast Guard sent out two patrol boats and the federal Water Pollution Control Agency.

The good and the benefit of all the area.

"It is good for the aged of Granite City, it is also good for the aged of Madison, Venice, and Edwardsville and for the recreational facilities are good for the children of Granite City, they also would be good for the children of the entire area."

"What I am saying," Mayor Lee continued, "is simply that the acquisition and the use of the depot should be a joint venture of the entire area, and the entire area should be one community because what affects one part of the area affects all of the area."

Mayor Lee said that if it is impossible to accomplish merger of Granite City, Venice and Madison by 1971, or otherwise bring about a combined acquisition of the depot property by the three cities, it is possible that the depot property could be acquired by the Tri-City Regional Board of Health, which, as a public agency with jurisdiction throughout the entire area, could bring about its development in many ways.

Ideal for Incinerator

He said the depot area would be ideal for location of an incinerator for disposal of garbage, trash and refuse to operate hours per day to serve communities as far away as Edwardsville on a fee basis.

As a result of the mayor's discussion, Venice council members instructed City Atty. Harry Hartman to prepare resolutions for adoption by Venice in its March 20 meeting, calling upon government officials to consider the potential of joint community acquisition of the depot area before any other steps are taken.

The mayor said copies of the resolution were sent to U.S. Sen. Charles Percy and U.S. Sen. Ralph Smith, to Cong. Melvin Price and to the Cities Chamber of Commerce.

The council Friday night adopted resolutions authorizing payment of $50 per month to Chief of Police John Essington and payment of $125.00 per month to Assistant Chief of Police Ralph Brawley for use of their private auto in police work. The resolutions make payments retroactive to last May 1, pointing out that the amounts had been appropriated in the 1969 budget, but not because of an oversight the payments had never been authorized.

Approve Engineer Claims

Payment of $677 to Daily & Associated, St. Louis engineering firm which made a combined Venice-Madison housing study under which a Neighborhood Development Housing program will be initiated, was approved. The council also approved a bill for $529 in engineering fees for telephone, Morgan and Schwaab, payable out of motor fuel tax funds.

Carly Byrnes, controller, reported that a final settlement of $83,360 in taxes collected in 1969 had been received from the county treasurer's office. City Treasurer Bernard Anderson reported that the city's total available funds totaled $7,237 in February. Disbursements amounted to $32,801, leaving the city a balance of $64,431 as of March 1.

Alderman Oscar King told the council he had received complaints of speeding on Merced street near the intersection of Blair and Chief Essington was requested to check the area. If the violations continued, Mayor Lee suggested, safety helmets will be installed.

MCKINLEY B. Riddle, Manager Henry McMullen reported the average daily bridge traffic fell below the 8000 mark during February, with daily average traffic of 7908 vehicles using the bridge. He said traffic during the first week of February totaled 56,444 vehicles, 53,863 during the second week, 54,730 during the third week and 56,590 during the fourth week, for total February vehicular traffic of 221,423 cars.

Chief Essington reported his department made a total of 30 arrests during January, receiving $88 in court fines from disposition of cases. Nine of those arrested were charged with violation of city ordinances and ten were arrested for traffic violations. The others were arrested on a variety of charges, with five of them turned over to other law enforcement agencies.

MORE ABOUT Smith for Public Use of Depot, 100% Discount

U. S. Sen. Ralph T. Smith (Rep., Ill.) proposed Friday that the Granite City Army Depot site be used for public purposes if it is closed down.

He added that the Defense Department plans to cease or curtail operations at nine military installations in Illinois.

"I immediately instructed my staff to undertake a survey of the impact of the proposed shutdowns and cutbacks upon the economy and the well-being of communities in the vicinity of each affected installation. I will be addressing myself to the problems of such of those communities in the near future," Smith said.

"Before I go further I should make one thing very clear. I am not saying that I accept the federal law, all or part of the Army Depot. I am merely saying that, if for transfer or any cutback should in fact come about, we might still come up with a solution that will make the people of Granite City and Madison count winners—not losers—any day."

Wires Sent to Officials

Defense Secretary Laird, GSA Administrator Kunz and HEW Secretary Finch, asking each to consider whether under federal law, all or part of the depot and facilities at the Granite City Army Depot might not be made available to the city or county at a public use and benefit discount of 100% for use as housing for the elderly, a multi-level police headquarters and varied recreational uses.

The depot land and building at the Depot belong to the people. To the extent the military is through using the Depot, it would be returned to the people.

"An appropriate first step would be rededication of the depot's housing units, warehouse, administration building, golf course and swimming pool to public use."

"The Army Depot is a well developed site, containing 262 buildings on 977 acres. Its buildings and facilities would make its conversion to public use relatively easy."

The depot could be used for auto and other transportation make it a desirable site for recreational and other public usage," Smith said.

Public Hearing Requested On Depot Shutdown

Formal request for a public hearing in the Granite City area to point up reasons why the Granite City Army Depot should not be deactivated was presented today by Local 149 of the Operating Engineers to Col. Neil R. Dickson, commanding officer of the depot.

The request, directed to Col. Dickson in a letter signed by Leonard H. Giles, chief shop steward of Local 149, asked that the hearing be granted "as expeditiously as possible." Local 149 of the Operating Engineers has about 700 members employed at the depot.

The union's action followed weekend conferences between Col. Dickson, local union president of the union, and other union representatives, with Col. Dickson, concerning the union's surprise announcement that the depot operation will be eliminated and completely dismantled by July 1971.

Bachinski said Col. Dickson assured union officials that a request for a hearing would be forwarded to Washington. "The announcement that they are going to close the depot certainly came as a big surprise to us," Bachinski said. "It certainly seems unusual to us that only a short time ago the Depot commander (then Col. Charles Hoskin) was meeting with the union urging us to find jobs for our members elsewhere and urge the government on the other hand to keep the depot open."

Equipment Needs Repairs
Bachinski pointed out that 70 to 100 acres at the depot is full of equipment waiting to be repaired, work which is done by operating engineers. He said the need of these repairs will continue since most of it came from Vietnam and is scheduled to be returned there once repairs are made.

"I am curious as to what the government plans to do with the huge stockpiles of bauxite ore which was shipped in from other countries to guard against aluminum shortages," Bachinski said. Moving these stockpiles would be a long and costly procedure.

He said the plan to shut down the depot not only is a severe economic blow to the area, but also to the community. He said the workers who will have to sell their homes and leave the area, even if they are able to find work elsewhere."

Application Form For Landfill Sent To Chouteau Firm

An application form for a landfill permit has been mailed to Chouteau Island Corp. but has not been returned. It was learned today from Paul T. Hawkins, Madison county sanitation officer.

The county sanitation department has refused to issue a landfill permit pending an opinion by the office of the Illinois attorney general on a zoning question. The opinion was requested by the county board of supervisors at its February meeting.

Leo Abel, agent for the firm, has demanded permission to reopen the old landfill which was closed two years ago on orders of the state and county because of violations of regulations. The old landfill, adjacent to the MAL landfill operation on Chouteau Island, previously operated as a non-conforming use under the county zoning regulations as the area is zoned as agricultural. The landfill was in operation prior to adoption of the county zoning ordinance.

Abel claims that favoritism is being afforded the MAL landfill in the denial of the permit. Hawkins denied the charge.

If a hearing to rezone the tract is ordered, county officials expect that objectors would be present and a petition to rezone the property would be denied by the county zoning board of appeals.

A mandamus suit brought by Chouteau Island Corp. to compel the county to permit the firm to re-open the landfill recently is on file in Madison county circuit court, along with a motion to dismiss the suit.

Formal request for a public hearing in the Granite City area to point up reasons why the Granite City Army Depot should not be deactivated was presented today by Local 149 of the Operating Engineers to Col. Neil R. Dickson, commanding officer of the depot.

The request, directed to Col. Dickson in a letter signed by Leonard H. Giles, chief shop steward of Local 149, asked that the hearing be granted "as expeditiously as possible." Local 149 of the Operating Engineers has about 700 members employed at the depot.

The union's action followed weekend conferences between Col. Dickson, local union president of the union, and other union representatives, with Col. Dickson, concerning the union's surprise announcement that the depot operation will be eliminated and completely dismantled by July 1971.

Five Stop Sign Tickets

Five motorists were issued tickets Friday on charges of disobeying a stop sign at Johnson road and Edgewood drive. Ticketed were Marie Reinhardt, 1700 Lindell blvd.; Frances Robbers, 22 Del Rio drive; Judith Perloff, 2319 Gary avenue; June Derr, 3121 Maryville road; and Walter D. Great-house, 34 Riviera drive.

The announcement that they are going to close the depot certainly came as a big surprise to us," Bachinski said. "It certainly seems unusual to us that only a short time ago the Depot commander (then Col. Charles Hoskin) was meeting with the union urging us to find jobs for our members elsewhere and urge the government on the other hand to keep the depot open."

Equipment Needs Repairs
Bachinski pointed out that 70 to 100 acres at the depot is full of equipment waiting to be repaired, work which is done by operating engineers. He said the need of these repairs will continue since most of it came from Vietnam and is scheduled to be returned there once repairs are made.

"I am curious as to what the government plans to do with the huge stockpiles of bauxite ore which was shipped in from other countries to guard against aluminum shortages," Bachinski said. Moving these stockpiles would be a long and costly procedure.

He said the plan to shut down the depot not only is a severe economic blow to the area, but also to the community. He said the workers who will have to sell their homes and leave the area, even if they are able to find work elsewhere."

Collinsville won its seventh regional tournament championship in ten years downing the Warriors, 76-52, in the finals here Friday night.

In 1961 and 1965 the Kahoks went on to take state crowns after winning regionals, which also, were held in Granite City. Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., Collinsville faces Belleville East at the Edwardsville sectional. The Lancers won their own regional from East St. Louis, 63-62. The Belleville team totals a 23-3 record and Collinsville a 25-2. GCHS finished 16-10.

Triad (22-6) the Midwestern conference champ plays Litchfield (15-10) in semifinals Tuesday at the Edwardsville Sectional. The finals are Friday.

During the regular season, the Kahoks beat the Warriors by margins of only two and five points. Friday, Collinsville cleanly swept rebounds, taking nearly every Granite City shot that missed court.

In the beginning four and a half minutes of Friday's final play, Coach Vergil Fletcher's boys leaped to a 10-2 advantage. During this early going, the Warriors got off only one shot with each turn of the ball, and the Kahoks' included among their point gathering three field goals from closer than four feet away from the hoop.

The pattern was set for the night, 6-foot-8½ inch center Bob Shapiro quietly shuffled up and down the court. Traveling with him were forwards Jerry Ahart and Kevin Brennan, both 6-foot-4.

The tree-top threesome did their work rebounding with mechanical perfection and joined the other Kahoks on defense, forcing GCHS to shoot, almost exclusively, from a 20-foot range.

The tallest Warrior, 6-4 sophomore Terry Ripka, did the best shooting over the impenetrable press, sinking eight from the floor.

The Warriors had a share of success pressing, but the contest of rebounding offset any appearance of an equal match. Ahart tallied 23 points, Shapiro 18, Brennan 16. Guard Dave Deets 14, Bill Kline and Rich Knarr furnished the Kahoks' other five points.

Warriors' on the scoreboard were—Ripka 16, Steve Harris 12, Tim Schwedemann seven, Dave Melzer six, Mike DeRuntz four, Jeff Boyles three, Tim Moore and Greg Jones, two each.

During each period the Kahoks' extended their lead, from 19-11 to 37-27 and after the third period to 53-38.

At Hillsboro, Litchfield won the finals from Warden, a district champ, 61-55. Triad beat the host at Vandalia, 79-59, for that regional's title.

Defeat Alton 75-70

Granite City was bothered by foul problems but used its pressing defense to defeat Alton 75-70 in semifinal action Thursday.

The Redbirds took a 19-18 lead seconds before the first quarter ended after an explosive Warrior rally. With two minutes remaining in the period, GCHS was behind 15-8. Harris sank two free throws and Alton missed its only shot on each of its next three turns with the ball.

Melzer, Ripka and Melzer again hooped two-pointers to give GCHS the lead 16-15. Alton's Greg Horton sank a field goal but so did Harris. With 12 seconds remaining, Alton's John Theen made a driving layup to give his team the advantage.

Warriors Pull Ahead

The enemy lead held all through the second quarter for a 41-35 score at halftime. But supported by Mike DeRuntz's 10 third-period points, Granite City edged ahead 53-52 by the end of the quarter. Ripka led the Warriors' move to the front with two baskets and a free throw without misses.

Granite City took the lead early in the final period and remained on top. Harris and Schwedemann each had four personal fouls entering the quarter. Ripka picked up his fourth foul early in the period but all avoided fouling out.

It was tied for the last time at 59-58 and GCHS then built a seven-point lead at 66-62 and again at 73-66. Ripka led the offense with 21 points, DeRuntz scored 20, Melzer 17, Harris 11, Schwedemann four and Jones, two.

WHAT'S THAT YOU SAY, MRS. DETERDING? Don Deterding's wife acts on turning points during the lead is gone, but not the regional basketball game here Thursday, Warrior Coach game here Thursday, Granite City won over Alton, 75-70.

Gallatin Resigns Head Coach Job

SIU-SW is looking for a new head basketball coach, with the resignation of Harry Gallatin, who has directed the Cougars through their first three consecutive years. He will continue at SIU-SW as director of athletics.

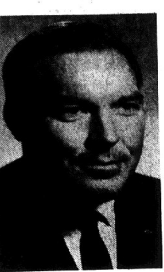

A special committee has been appointed to screen applicants for the coach's job, Chancellor John Rendleman said, adding, "We hope to be able to make an announcement soon so the new man will be able to attend most of the state tournaments in surrounding states to talk to prospective players about the basketball program we are building here."

Rendleman notes that Gallatin's leaving the coaching duties is, "a much deserved recognition of the tremendously heavy load which Gallatin has been carrying for the past three years as coach, director of athletics, assistant dean of students and instructor of physical education."

Since coming to SIU-SW in 1967, Gallatin has directed the beginning and enlargement of an intercollegiate sports program which now totals seven sports. All of these sports are now using rented or temporary facilities and Gallatin is actively involved in planning for permanent athletic facilities on campus.

The three-season Cougar basketball record is 19-31 including individual seasons of 5-5, 7-10 and the currently completed 7-16.

Formerly a professional player with the New York Knicks, Gallatin coached for four years at the SIU-Carbondale campus. He served three seasons as head coach of the old St. Louis Hawks, and two seasons as coach of the Knicks.

GALLATIN, NOT COACH. Harry Gallatin has stepped down as SIU-SW basketball coach, but will continue his other duties including SIU-SW's athletic director.

EOCs to Sponsor State Conference on Poverty

The first statewide conference on problems involving the impoverished, programs now in existence and those needed to alleviate specific conditions, currently is being planned for May. It was announced last week by Maurice S. Harris, executive director of the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission.

Representatives of various service agencies, civic organizations and other interested groups will meet at 2 p.m. Tuesday with anti-poverty agency officials at the Holiday Inn, East St. Louis. Purpose of tomorrow's meeting is to form a steering committee to organize the large-scale conference, Harris said.

Among the Quilt-Cityans invited to take part in planning the conference program are Sister Mary Thomas, St. Elizabeth Hospital administrator; Dr. George T. Wilkins, local pediatrician; C. A. "Bud" MacMillan, Coordinated Youth Services executive director, and Charles Hampton of Venice, a schoolteacher and former Venice alderman.

"We hope to arrange a program appealing to a wide variety of people... a meaningful follow-up to the program," the anti-poverty director commented. "To accomplish this, we have invited representatives from such fields as social welfare, employment, housing, police, medical facilities, Chambers of Commerce and similar human services agencies to assist in formulating the best possible program agenda," Harris explained.

Tentatively scheduled to take place in East St. Louis, the May conference is expected to draw participation from anti-poverty organizations and service agencies representing all sections of Illinois, the director said.

Prior to the current year, poverty agency executives from several states attended regional seminars and workshops, usually held in Chicago, Harris noted. Since regional meetings have been eliminated, he said, a statewide conference would prove very beneficial, he added.

At a recent meeting of the Illinois Association of Community Action Agency Directors, the Madison and St. Clair counties EOC directors volunteered to sponsor a state conference in the bi-county area. The proposal was immediately accepted by association members, Harris said.

Gov. Ogilvie to Visit Alton on Wednesday

On invitation of the Madison County Republican Central committee, candidates on national and local levels also will be present. Gov. Ogilvie is to appear to introduce Edmund J. Kucharski, Republican candidate for state treasurer.

Committee of Illinois Attorneys Backs Smith

A committee of Cook county and downstate attorneys has pledged active campaign support to U. S. Senator Ralph Tyler Smith (R., Ill.), it was announced last week.

Chairman of the downstate committee is James B. Wham of Centralia, a former Illinois Court of Claims judge and now a practicing attorney in the firm of Wham and Wham.

In a joint statement to Illinois attorneys, McGarr and Wham said Smith brought with him into the present campaign "all the requisites of a U. S. senator. He has successfully met the challenges of governmental and political leadership in serving Illinois as Speaker of the House of Representatives."

"He has served seven terms in the Illinois General Assembly. He has practiced law for more than 30 years. He is now serving a people of Illinois as U. S. senator. His party is behind him, and he has the confidence of those who served with him on both sides of the political aisle."

Appeal Filed in Firing of Mank By Police Board

An appeal of the firing of Granite City Patrolman Louis Mank by the Granite City board of fire and police commissioners was filed Thursday in Madison county circuit court at Edwardsville.

Named as defendants in the petition for judicial review of the case were the police board, Commissioners Ralph L. Elliott, George Veizer and Eugene R. Burnett, and the city of Granite City.

Mank was discharged by the board on Feb. 10 when he was found guilty of six of 13 charges filed by Police Chief Ronald Veizer. He was suspended in December and extensive hearings followed.

In the legal documents, Mank's attorneys claim the administrative decision is erroneous and void because:

It was impossible for Mank to receive a fair and impartial hearing because of the composition of the board.

Members of the board had failed to file an affidavit of party affiliation prior to the proceedings.

The decision is contrary to evidence introduced at the hearings.

It is contrary to law as enunciated in the applicable statutes as defined by the Illinois Supreme Court.

It erroneously applies the applicable law of the state.

Mank's attorneys ask that the board submit to the court the entire transcript of evidence taken in the proceedings, including all exhibits.

showed one count which the board dismissed. It charged that Mank failed to maintain a radio log at the police desk as instructed by his supervisors.

Counts in which the police board found him guilty were: leaving his duty assignment for periods of up to two hours where, Mank has a part-time job as a security guard at the Gem store.

Resenting authority and failure to respond to the direction of his superior officers.

Conduct unbecoming an officer for which he previously had been given a five-day suspension by Chief Veizer. Mank's attorneys claimed he was placed in double jeopardy on the charge.

Unjustifiably striking a person in custody in the presence of three other officers, that an "understanding" was reached with the person in which charges against him would be dropped and that a proper report of the incident was not filed.

Unjustifiably took a person into a closed room for the purpose of "raising hell" with him on an event which occurred sometime earlier.

Home Rule Sought In Provisions of New Constitution

A resolution calling for local self determination on the type of local government was submitted to the Illinois constitutional convention last week at Springfield by Harry Briggs, Nameoki township supervisor.

The home rule document was drafted by Briggs, chairman, and his legislative committee of the Madison county board of supervisors, in behalf of the Illinois Association of Supervisors. He also is chairman of the legislative committee of the state body.

It also was submitted to the constitutional convention which held a public hearing Friday at Alton.

The resolution asks that the General Assembly "adopt standards for local self determination, and the people of any such governmental entity may, by popular vote, change the form and structure of their local government."

"The enumeration of powers to them in this section or in any statute of the General Assembly shall not be deemed to be a limitation on the power of such entity."

Briggs said the home rule provision covers cities, villages, counties and townships and, if adopted, would give local voters a choice of the type of county government whether it be under the township or commission form of government or some other plan.

The same home rule powers are guaranteed in the current state constitution, Briggs noted, but he expects strong opposition from lobbyists and special interest groups seeking to abandon the township form of county government.

He said the document will be refined with further amendments before the home rule committee of the constitutional convention acts on the resolution.

Briggs' draft reads that "The General Assembly shall provide for the creation of cities, villages, counties and townships, and incorporated towns, and It's easy. Just decide to sell your own home without the help of a Realtor.

You'll have all kinds of people prowling everywhere. Around the clock. Just ask anyone willing to remember the time they tried to sell their own home. The stories are grizzly.

Until they get to the part where they throw in the towel and come home helped from a professional Realtor. The way they'll talk about their Realtor will remind you of the cavalry saving home-stealers from the Indians.

A Realtor can save you too. Save you a lot of time and headaches. For a lot of good reasons. If you're thinking of selling your own home, maybe you should consider some of them.

What have you got to lose?

Without a Realtor, plenty.

Market demand, seasonality of sales, location and a dozen other factors can change your home's value overnight. A Realtor knows all about these things. He can make sure your asking price is right. And he can make sure you get it.

Do it yourself, and you'll probably ask too much. Or too little. Either way, you're going to wind up losing.

Strangers in the night

The minute you post your "For Sale by Owner" sign in the front yard, you're fair game for anyone passing by with a few minutes (or hours) to kill.

You'll meet them all. And in the odd places. The sweet little old lady with the big shopping bag you run into rummaging through your garage. The guy in the T-shirt and brown bomber jacket you find under the porch checking for termites. And those people you never really get a good look at as they peer in the window during the late news.

But that's just the beginning. Wait until you decide you're not getting enough real prospects and put an ad in the paper.

Your feelings about the telephone will never be the same. You'll talk to people at all hours of the day and night. Some of them will even show up. At all hours of the day and night.

A Realtor can solve these problems for you. He'll screen the prospects from the window-shoppers and just plain weirdos. He'll dig out their needs, desires and financial situation.

Best of all, though, he'll show you house only when it's convenient for you.

The games people play

So there you are. Hearty smile and firm handshake ready for the first buyer.

You're ready to handle anything. Like "Why, the stairs do creak a bit."

Or "You'll certainly be taking those cheery drapes with you, won't you?"

Well, maybe you are. And maybe you aren't. Why take a chance? Realtors are fully trained in the fine art of salesmanship. That includes turning an objection into an advantage. And a Realtor knows how to get the indecisive buyer to make up his mind. Realtors go to school to learn all about Realtors.

Suddenly, your buyer makes an offer. Unfortunately, it's well below, far below, your asking price.

What do you do now? Get mad? Argue? Probably. It's the worst thing you could do.

Because you're the owner, you'll find it nearly impossible to negotiate with a buyer. Bargaining over price, terms and possession date is best done by a professional with an eye for details.

A Realtor is the go-between and advisor when he helps sell your home. He handles the negotiations. He'll look out for you and tell you to stick to your guns when you're right. And he'll tell you when the buyer is right, too.

Red Tape

Let's say you twisted the buyer's arm. He's agreed to up his ante to meet your price. But he needs your help to get financing. Where do you go now? Good question. And every Realtor knows the answers. That's because a Realtor deals daily with all kinds of financial institutions and knows their methods and requirements.

And the paperwork. There's tons of it. Title searches, finance arrangements, contracts, transfers, even back taxes.

Unless you're a bear for keeping hundreds of balls up in the air, you'll want a Realtor to help keep you straight. He'll work with your attorney so you pass through the ordeal as painlessly as possible.

That's show biz

After all this, maybe you think you're a better man than most. You could take it all in stride and do a good job of it, right?

Wrong. What about that dripping faucet you've always meant to fix? It could turn a hot prospect off. And the loose doorknob on the back door?

There's more that could cost you plenty. They're little things that make your house more saleable. Or less saleable if you overlook them. A Realtor can point them all out. After all, he wants you to put on a good show, too. So

You may be wondering why Chicago Title and Trust Company cares whether you attract rowdies or buyers. We're not in the selling business. We insure titles to real estate.

It's just that after many years of serving the title needs of your community, we've come to know how important Realtors are. And how much they can help you.

We wanted you to know, too.

Family Receives Call From Son in Vietnam

The parents of Army Sp4 Larry Conner were "surprised and thrilled" last week to receive a telephone call from their son who is on duty in Vietnam. Sp4 Conner placed the call home to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Conner, 3022 Circle drive, at 9:45 a.m. Thursday, Vietnam time, or 9:45 p.m. Wednesday, local time, in observance of his 21st birthday. The serviceman reported attempting to make the transoceanic call since the previous Sunday, March 1, his actual birthday, but was unable to complete connections due to busy overseas lines.

"He also moves around Vietnam quite a bit in his job," Mrs. Conner said today. The soldier, who specializes in mechanics, is a member of the 500th Light Maintenance Company. He entered the Army about 18 months ago and was assigned to Vietnam last September. "Larry said that he really enjoys getting the Press-Record, but commented that he almost has to fight his buddies to get to read it," Mrs. Conner said. "As soon as the paper arrives, the fellows grab for it, he told us, they are so eager to read news from home. Most of the guys in his outfit are not from Illinois, either," the mother added.

The serviceman expects to receive an R&R leave in Australia, starting March 15, but said he can't wait to go home later this year. He asked his mother to have some of her good chicken ready for him when he arrives.

The former Granite City high school student's address in Vietnam is: Sp4 Larry Conner, RA 6802540, 560 LT, Maintenance Co., APO San Francisco, Calif. 96294.

DAV Nat'l. Service Officer to Visit Here

Frank Calderala of Chicago, national service officer of the Disabled American Veterans, will be in this area March 16 through March 18 to assist local wounded and disabled veterans, and Vietnam veterans with compensation claims.

Any veteran or his widow needing help with any service problems they may have with the Veterans Administration are asked to contact the service officer starting at 9 a.m. at any one of the following locations: March 16, at the DAV home, 625 Old St. Louis road, Belleville; March 17, at the DAV Club rooms, 1417 Nineteenth street, Granite City; or March 18, at the city hall, Alton.

Calderala and his staff of six assistants are credited with handling the claims of more than 30,000 disabled veterans at the Chicago regional office of the Veterans Administration. In 1968 he was assigned to the national office of the Veterans Administration. An attorney, he has observed that the main force of DAV activities is centered around the claims and legislative service.

In recent months, he and members of his staff have appeared before medical evaluation boards at Great Lakes Hospital and elsewhere to argue for a fair and liberal evaluation of Vietnam veterans' disabilities. He contends that the same care and research must be used in preparing the evidence in individual claims as that used by trial lawyers in court and that no compensation, pension or other veterans rights are granted without proper application and proof of service connection. Calderala is one of the few survivors of the first air group to challenge the Japanese air armada during world war II. He served as first engineer on the bomber squadron which was credited with retaining the foothold in New Guinea and preventing the invasion of Australia. He was decorated with the Silver Star, Distinguished Flying Cross and Air Medals.

HONOR KATHY POLETTE ON 12TH BIRTHDAY

Kathy Polette, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Polette, 2916 Oregon street, celebrated her 12th birthday at a party followed by a slumber party given by her parents Friday evening, attended by friends and classmates.

The birthday cake, a daisy theme, was used in the table appointments, of yellow, green and white. A cake was adorned with miniature yellow daisies. The honoree, a sixth grade student at Niedringhaus school, received many gifts.

Games were played and prizes were won by Becky Howard and Lynn Diak.

Cake and ice cream was served. Others present were Becky Brokaw, Terry Miller, Janet Parker, Liz Lanter, Denise Moore, Ruth Ann Geggus, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ingram and the honoree's sister, Linda, and brother, Mark. Mrs. Ingram, who also observed her birthday this week, exchanged gifts with the honored guest.

During the pajama party, a search was held with the guests telling ghost stories. Recorded music was enjoyed. At midnight, the hosts served hot dogs, potato chips and soda.

RAILROADS CAUSING A BARGAINING BREAKDOWN

To the Editor:

I am writing to protest the unfairness of this labor crisis on the railroads.

This is supposed to be a democracy, to me, it is more like a dictatorship, with the railroads pulling all the strings. There is a breakdown in collective bargaining and suppression of the poor working man trying to make a decent living.

The railroads don't intend to bargain because they have the influence of the government behind them with the city of the national economy. In other words, they have the government with its "over a barrel."

These unions have gone 15 minutes, working every day without a contract and following the rules set down by the Railway Labor Act. Also, they have gone along with Secretary of Labor Shultz' suggestion to hold off and wait and see.

I say, make the railroads sit down and bargain in good faith, instead of giving the impression the unions are doing an injustice to their country.

As for the "provision" to permit workers of one craft to do a limited amount of work in another craft," just how much is "limited?"

Would a machinist do electrical work or an electrician do sheetmetal work? No, they wouldn't, and neither would they cross one another's craft jurisdiction in other industries.

Compare the wages of the machinist, electrician, boiler-maker or sheetmetal worker with any outside industry comparable with the use of the railroads and see how the railroad men are shortchanged.

Railroads have the money and power to lobby in Washington and they sure are doing a good job of it. Yet, it is the customers behind the scenes who make the wheels turn and make the profits for them.

Most companies raise the standards of working conditions to improve the efficiency of their people, but the railroads are still in the 19th century, despite their high profits.

Try to raise a family on the wages the railroads pay. No wonder it takes a man and his wife both working to provide the necessities of life. There are increases in the price of everything but not in the benefits for the rail crafts.

The man who has many years and up in one craft and in a company, with age against him if he goes to look for another job. It isn't the government that the railroads who are going to be hurt; it is the craftsman trying to improve his earning power and working conditions.

Yes it is this same man, striving for a chance, who is the one who bears the burden of taxes that support this nation.

WEED OUT ALDERMEN WHO DISREGARD PUBLIC

To the Editor:

I wish to congratulate the Press-Record on their excellent coverage of the city council meetings. We are getting a word description of fantastic escapades of former misadventure into decay of governmental administration.

More words cannot portray the full display of barbaric force used to destroy the citizen's vote. It is getting very late for us, as citizens, we may as well use the actual fact of democracy from our own apathy.

This is not a new problem; read the book of Judges, Chapter 9, of the Old Testament—a parable very well describes what we have wrought.

The brambles have now assumed their role.

Citizen go to a council meeting and see for yourself. Then, don't go home and say, "Well, there is nothing I can do." This is exactly what happened in East St. Louis and most of us have their problems on other fronts.

If you want to protect your investment in Granite City, your home, family and future, become actively interested in what your elected officials are doing and saying.

Get information from several sources, because they have their own interests to protect—not yours.

Do not become appeased because someone has gotten you a street light or stop sign you wanted. Believe me, you paid for it twice; look at our sewer situation for proof.

There are ways we can bring this situation back under control, but it takes the time and effort of many individuals. Attend council meetings on the 3rd, 3rd and 4th Mondays of the month.

If you do not agree with your alderman, and cannot convince him he is wrong, help someone else who believes as you do. Encourage intelligent individuals to replace our mistakes.

Help circulate and sign petitions to rectify the errors already made.

In short, citizens, become actively involved in your affairs.

PRIMARY RECALLS SUIT HANDLED BY CANDIDATE

To the Editor:

On March 3 I received in the mail a letter from Dick Mudge denoting votes for his campaign for senator with the caption "Friend and Fellow Democrat."

What kind of mixed-up world does he live in? I am neither a friend of his nor a Democrat.

I have always been a Republican and always will be. And I would not vote for him simply for the way he dragged our family through a session in court which has got to be the silliest case on record.

His client was John Mangiaracino, who was a registered candidate running for office as precinct committeeman on the Democratic ticket. He lost about 100 to one.

At the same time, he was slugging a write-in campaign with his Democratic supporters on the Republican ticket.

When he lost, he instituted a court battle with Mudge, and also the support of Bill Burns, who was a Democrat running for county office on the Republican ticket and was defeated.

They were all losers in the contest but it certainly cost the family through a lot of unnecessary misery and adverse publicity in the news media.

A deputy sheriff knocked at our door one Sunday night and gave my husband the court summons. It was a new experience for us.

We had never had a brush with the law and had done nothing but go to the polls, vote and return home.

Mangiaracino, a Democratic reject, is running again for Republican office. There is nothing to deter him now, obviously.

SERVICEMAN COMMENTS ON ELECTION REVERSAL

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Louis Whitsell upon his being declared the winner of the 1968 Democratic committeeman race of precinct One in Namekoi township.

It has been nearly two years since that election, but Mr. Whitsell continued to fight for what he thought was right and to show us all what really can happen in our local elections.

I hope the people of Namekoi township and the Granite City area can learn from his achievements.

I believe that this kind of thinking and determination will make him one of the best young people serving the community.

I would like also to congratulate Mr. Whitsell in this fight for justice and truth. They are all winners.

DOUBTS THAT CHICAGO IS IGNORING ELECTION

To the Editor:

It was disappointing to read Lt. Gov. Paul Simon's reason for supporting Sam Vadalabene.

The lieutenant governor has asked voters to support his man merely because Vadalabene has been around for awhile. What is his man's record on taxation, education, air and water pollution and other important issues?

Concerning Chicago and Mayor Daley, it is most disgusting to hear the lieutenant governor ask us to believe that the Chicago group has no interest in the race. Come now, Mr. Simon, we are not that naive.

What ever happened to the young, energetic, reform-minded Simon who was going to Springfield to slay all of those "cock and bull" stories?

Because of my desire to see positive and meaningful change in the Democratic party in Illinois, I will vote for Dick Mudge on March 17 for state senator.

Acquisition of Depot by Industry Offers Best Hope of Tax Base, Job Opportunities

The Granite City Army Depot has done so much for the world, for our nation and for this community since it was established in the dark days of early world war II that it would be impossible to avoid a feeling of sorrow over the news that it will be closed by July 1971.

The potential loss of jobs and economic activity is severe. But it could be greatly alleviated if the Quad-Cities are fortunate enough to attract one or more industries to the 977-acre site.

The property has more than 250 buildings, nearly all of them modern and in excellent condition, with 1,501,000 square feet of space under roof. There are ideal barge-truck-train connections and an abundance of improved open space—9,467,000 square feet, to be exact.

The federal government traditionally has been willing to build facilities at an extremely reasonable cost, aware that long idleness would cause the buildings and equipment to deteriorate. In this case, in point is the Madison war plant acquired after world war II by Dow Chemical. A closed military base at Decatur was purchased by General Electric and Caterpillar Tractor and later expanded.

Industrial development offers the best utilization because it would broaden the property base which supports local government agencies—schools, the city, parks, the county, the township—and their growing expenditures. An alternative might be a major non-military federal activity; although this would not provide property taxes, it would offer employment for many.

The Army Depot has been a real asset to this region.

Its location could be the scene of even larger fabricating or processing operations in the future—if this kind of a transfer of the property is sought and obtained. There is every hope that this will be feasible, since existing structures of such size and quality are mighty attractive when compared with the present cost of erecting and financing entirely new plant buildings.

Collinsville expects to obtain upwards of

City May Be Able to Obtain Grant to Help Finance and Equip New Police Headquarters

Locating a new police station at the site of the Army Depot would be a desirable but the possibility of obtaining new Granite City headquarters need not be ruled out.

Collinsville expects to obtain upwards of $125,000 in federal Safe Streets Act funds through the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission to help finance a new police station and jail, freeing part of its city hall space for other offices. The grant covers 50% of construction and 60% of equipment.

With $17 million available to the state and another $5.5 million appropriated by the Illinois General Assembly, Granite City might well consider a construction project application in addition to its successful application for the type of Safe Streets funds available for training programs and efficiency studies.

Fewer Council Meetings Would Cut Costs; Could Accelerate Progress, Reduce Feuding

Reduction of Granite City council meetings from three to two a month offers a considerable saving to the city—$7600 a year by trimming each of the 16 aldermen's meeting fees from $1800 to $1200. This deserves serious consideration because of the municipality's financial plight.

Aldermen at first glance may see the proposal as harmful to them, but councilmen might well benefit from curtailment of their meetings. They would have an extra evening a month to devote to other duties or to leisure, and there would be less potential for the wrangling that has given some people a negative image of Granite City. Meeting only twice a month, the governing body would have incentive to expedite pending business and avoid oratorical flourishes.

A ample precedent for such a meeting schedule already exists. Of the 13 Quad-City taxing bodies, which admittedly have widely varying workloads, one meets every other week, three meet twice a month and eight assemble once a month. Only one, the Granite City council has three regular meetings each month.

New Approach Badly Needed for Levee District Funds, Services in This Area

Every taxpayer in the East Side Levee and Sanitary District has been given food for thought by suggestions that the district be dissolved and that its responsibilities be taken over by the state or federal government. The proposition from the Tri-Cities Public Expenditures Survey and the St. Clair County Taxpayers Association.

Long a matter of concern for the public and for other governmental agencies, the Levee District over a period of many years has spent unwisely, hired freely, played politics and ignored recommended administrative and operational procedures.

Now it is increasing its debt sharply, allocating more and more funds for interest, coming under increasing scrutiny by grand juries, and worsening its "confidence gap" to the extent that regional growth is being discouraged.

William M. Ebersold, of Venice, only local member of the district board, has sought to alter the policies but is outnumbered. Local residents also are outnumbered by East St. Louisians who have had to bear a constantly increasing share of the financial burden due to erosion of the East St. Louis property tax base.

The outlook for the future seems even more discouraging. With drainage and water problems, assuming a continuing regional growth, it is obvious that property owners within the small confines of the district cannot and should not have to shoulder the costs. Some other approach must be found, and soon.

Assembly Power to Probe Courts Could Restore Public Confidence

By U. S. SENATOR RALPH T. SMITH

I believe the Illinois Constitutional Convention and public should give the Illinois legislature power to investigate judicial corruption.

The courts have denied the right of the legislators, who are the elected representatives of the people, to conduct investigations into alleged wrongdoing on the part of some judges.

Such an investigative article must be included in the Illinois Constitution if we are to restore public confidence in our courts and in the judicial process.

A new Constitution which I believe would guarantee the public's right to get the facts about the conduct of the courts would be a tragic failure if it did not attempt to place a legislative curb on certain behavior of the judges and the officers of our courts.

I favor a constitution which would give the legislature the power to investigate judicial corruption.

Attempts to cover the subject of aid to schools in the new Illinois Constitution would be unnecessary controversy to the Convention. Present constitutional provisions permit the Assembly to decide this question.

It is also my recommendation that decisions on state aid to private and parochial schools be left to the Assembly.

Business Use of Residence Can Lead to Income Tax Deduction

(Illinois Society of Certified Public Accountants)

In making out their federal income tax returns, taxpayers often overlook expenses which they can deduct because they use their home for business purposes.

Such deductions may be available whether the taxpayer owns his house, rents an apartment, or owns a co-op.

Deductible items fall into two general categories: incidental and regular.

The first would include, for example, expenses incurred for home entertainment of customers—cost of food, liquor, catering service. The taxpayer should be able to establish the bona fide business element in such entertainment.

The second category of expenses pertains to use of the home as a regular base for business purposes, generally as an office. This may be either by an employee or a self-employed taxpayer.

Deductions under this category include not only direct expenses, such as telephone, stationery and office supplies, but also part of the cost of maintaining the residence.

The IRS has ruled that the cost of the home or for entertainment does not permit deduction of any part of the expenses of maintenance.

But regular use of the home for business is recognized for deductions by a large variety of taxpayers—including architects, lawyers, doctors, accountants, inventors, consultants, authors, real estate agents and others.

For employees, distinct from self-employed persons, the IRS requires that, in order to have any part of home maintenance deductible, the use of the home for business purposes must be a condition of their employment.

The IRS, however, has frequently taken a more lenient view, requiring only that use of the home be helpful to the conduct of the employer's business.

An employee may be able to assure himself additional deductions by making proper arrangements with his employer.

The taxpayer should keep in mind that it is up to him to prove (1) he uses his home for business, (2) the extent of the use and (3) the expense incurred. To support his claim, he should retain invoices, canceled checks, receipts and all other records.

Other communities now turn their backs upon us. Does anybody wonder why?

Bosses Prefer Party Control to Victory-Mudge

Madison County Democratic leaders opposing his candidacy for the Illinois Senate would rather lose in November than lose control of the March 17 primary, Dick H. Mudge Jr. of Edwardsville charged in a statement to the Press-Record Friday.

"Those who oppose independent Democrats are not interested in good state and local government. Their interest is to control the party," Mudge said. "They would rather lose an election in November with candidates they can control than win with qualified Democrats whose interest is in honest government and service to the people."

"I am taking my campaign directly to the people of this county."

"I think candidates should present their qualifications and their program of legislation, and meet face-to-face with their opponents on neutral ground. Yet, not a single candidate with opposition on the Democratic slate has had the courage or confidence in his past record to appear and face his opponent."

"What may be loosely referred to as the 'Democratic organization' of this county, headed by Buck Simmons and Chris Costoff, is more interested in controlling primary elections than it is in winning general elections."

Salons vs. People

"This is proven by the results of the 1968 election and the fact that Madison county is now represented by a Republican state senator. They have made the Democratic party so exclusive that it is no longer the 'people's party' it was the saloon party."

"Buck is the boss, Costoff is next in command, and Sam Vadablene is the general handyman at Springfield, sponsoring legislation for the special interests of race tracks and taverns, including his opposition to House Bills 869, 970, 971 and 972 which became law over Vadablene's opposition by a vote of 97 to 11."

"These laws were designed to enable the Department of Revenue to furnish information to the Internal Revenue Service for the express purpose of preventing income tax evasion by persons in the tobacco and liquor business."

"As in the past, I must depend upon a volunteer staff, and am happy to say that a very substantial number of people are involved in this fight. They agree with me that the government should not be dominated by the powers of the Chicago and Springfield and the people on their political payrolls."

"Madison county needs qualified candidates and I need the help of all independent people interested in improving the quality of state government."

Enforcement, Tax Issues

"When I was state's attorney of Madison county, law and order was maintained because our sole objective was to provide an honest administration of justice. Every man and woman in this county was treated equally regardless of status or power."

"I now have a program of legislation designed to deal effectively with the problems of pollution, law enforcement, narcotics, collective bargaining for public employees, tax reform—the outright repeal of tax on the sale of property tax on individuals and repeal of the sales tax on food, medicine and school supplies."

"I believe that all legislators should be required to file as a public record copies of their federal income tax returns."

"With the help and support of people who believe in the principles of honest government I can be elected and my only political obligation will be to them," Mudge concluded.

Great Economic Growth Seen in Madison County

(Third of a Series)

Existing and expected developments in Madison county can have a tremendous impact on the economic vitality and health of the economy, according to the land use and transportation plan prepared by the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission.

Expected to have a major impact on the economic vitality of the county during a 20-year planning period are:

Continued growth of Southern Illinois University-Southwestern; the possibility of a second major air terminal in the county; expansion of Civic Memorial airport; reconstruction or renovation of the Alton locks; a new bridge across the Mississippi at Alton.

Completion of interstate routes through the county; urban renewal of inner-city areas; construction of new shopping facilities; availability of industrial lands; development of parks and recreational facilities such as Cahokia Mounds; and development and expansion of the Tri-Cities industrial port district.

The impact of SIU-SW has been significant, the report points out. Continued growth and expansion of the campus will be a factor of major importance in the future. Increases in enrollment and staff will generate a number of jobs for residents of the county.

An increase of 879 available jobs will be generated this year. By 1975 it is expected that the university will generate another 1,605 jobs, 3382 by 1985 and 4763 by 1995.

With projected enrollment of more than 20,000, the university will continue to bring more people into the county for many years. Not only will there be an influx of students and faculty, together with supporting staff, but other industries will be attracted to the academic and research facilities and personnel which will be available.

Major Air Terminal
The need for a second major airport in the county and the region is becoming critical. One of the best sites for the airport is in Madison county, according to the planners.

There is no certainty that the airport will be built in the county, but if it is, a number of jobs will be added for the population. Such an airport will take about eight years to build, and this will require the services of 1000 to 1200 construction workers during the period.

If the airport is located in the county, it is expected to be in operation by 1980 and will provide about 12,000 more jobs. By 1985, the number should reach 15,000.

The jobs will include airline personnel, both operative and ground based, freight forwarders, supporting industries, including Federal Aeronautics Administration, U.S. post office, ground security, food service, terminal sales, aircraft maintenance, trailer service, motel/hotel operation, car rental, general services and others.

SIU-SW growth and expansion and development of the airport in the county are the two major impact variables which will significantly affect the economic growth and vitality of the county, the report stresses.

There are few urban areas anywhere in the country with as much well-located vacant land as in Madison county, the report states.

In the southwest part of the county, west of Route 157 and south of Roxana, there are 135 acres of valuable industrial sites ranging from five to 1328 acres and totaling more than 13,000 acres.

There are another 15,000 to 30,000 acres available for industrial development in St. Clair county. The fact that the land is available is a tremendous asset to the potential development of the county.

Economic growth in the county has had periods of expansion and contraction, but with the current momentum of economic growth and redevelopment, and with the expected improvement in highway, rail and water transportation, to say nothing of the effect of a major air terminal field, there is every reason to believe that the county is entering a period of extended and steady economic growth, the report concludes.

Lake Park Land Acquisition to Start this Spring

Reporting on the progress of acquiring Horseshoe Lake for development as a state park, the state Department of Conservation at Springfield said this week that title evidence on property is being gathered and plat work is under way. Land acquisition may be started prior to the end of the state's and current fiscal year on June 30.

A spokesman for the department said that of the initial $2,000,000 appropriation to acquire the 1700-acre lake and shoreline property, about $500,000 will be spent prior to June 30, and the department will call for reappropriation of $1,500,000 during the 1970-71 fiscal year.

"We'll probably call for an initial $200,000 this year and possibly another $300,000 to $500,000 as soon as appraisals are completed," the spokesman said.

In another section of the Department of Conservation, it was reported the fish kill occurring last week at Horseshoe Lake was of a minor nature and due primarily to natural causes, resulting from the severe weather and shallowness of the lake.

River Festival Board Organized

A board of directors for Mississippi River Festival, Inc., was organized Friday to sponsor six weeks of symphonic and rock, pop, folk concerts on the campus of Southern Illinois University-Southwestern in July and August.

John L. Gillis, senior vice president of Monsanto Co., and president of MRF, Inc., said the organization are encouraged by the response of communities throughout the bi-state metropolitan area to an appeal for contributions to help underwrite a 1970 Festival. "We must continue our fund-raising efforts, and we are confident that the remaining funds needed for a successful Festival will become available," Gillis said.

Mississippi River Festival, Inc., is a not-for-profit corporation formed to underwrite and continue the continuation of the Mississippi River Festival organized last year by SIU-SW and the St. Louis Symphony Society. The SIU board of trustees agreed to underwrite up to $75,000 in expenses if a similar amount can be secured from other sources. Campaigns are now under way in both Illinois and Missouri to secure the underwriting.

Officers elected at the organization meeting, in addition to Gillis, were Mrs. Spencer T. Olin of Alton, honorary chairman; Nicholas P. Veeder, chairman of the board of Granite City Steel Co., executive vice president; Ernest A. Karand, president of Granite City, St. Louis; and Dr. Albert W. Triant, Granite City dentist, secretary.
